DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-11 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claim 1 recites "the housing lid is divided into two parts and comprises an inner lid and an outer lid; the inner lid can be inserted into a housing opening with the sealing ring arranged between the inner lid and a wall of the housing opening". Ernst et al teaches a filter device for removing oil from crankcase gases, wherein the filter is located within a housing, the housing is covered by a single lid(11) inserted into a housing opening with a sealing ring(12) arranged between the inner lid and a wall of the housing opening and a relief valve(19) is located within the lid. However, Ernst et al fails to teach an outer lid which covers the housing opening and is secured to a wall of the housing opening in a locked position by a locking mechanism. Yoon et al(5601710) teaches a filter device for purifying water, wherein a filter(230) is located within a housing(210), the housing is covered by an inner lid and an outer lid. However, as shown in Figure 7, the inner lid(260) is inserted into a housing opening(210) with the sealing ring(271) arranged inside of the lid, and not arranged between the inner lid and the wall of the housing opening. Also, the outer lid is connected over the housing opening by a locking mechanism, however the seal(270) is not located between the inner lid and a wall of the housing. Also note that although Ernst et al teaches an inner lid, it would not have been obvious to provide an outer lid as shown in Yoon et al because Ernst et al does not suggest use of an outer lid, and the filter structures and purposes of each reference are different, so that combination of the references would not be obvious. Claims 2-11 depend on claim 1 and hence are also allowed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
